Mr. Barry F. Mardock
Deputy Director
Office of Regulatory Policy
Farm Credit Administration
1501 Farm Credit Drive
McLean, VA 22102-5090

Dear Mr. Mardock:

Thank you for the opportunity to comment on FCA's recent proposed rule regarding Standards of Conduct. Adherence to appropriate Standards of Conduct is important to the integrity of the Farm Credit System and a topic which should be carefully considered. The FCA's proposed rule, however, does far more harm than good and should be substantially revised.

As a director of Farm Credit of Western Kansas, I find that the pre-transaction disclosure requirements in the Conflicts of Interest section of the proposed rule to be entirely inappropriate and completely unrealistic. The proposed rule ignores my association's cooperative structure and the way I do business in my own farming operation. I routinely have business transactions with a wide variety of individuals, some of whom might be Farm Credit of Western Kansas customers. For the most part, I don't know whether someone I'm doing business with is a Farm Credit of Western Kansas customer. Even in instances where I know I'm dealing with an association customer, there is no conflict of interest since directors at Farm Credit of Western Kansas do not have any role in approving loans or the terms of loans.

Requiring me to disclose in advance any transaction with a customer, even when I know I am doing business with a customer, is not realistic. The number of transactions I have in the normal course of my business means that both Farm Credit of Western Kansas and I would spend an enormous amount of time shuffling paperwork with absolutely no impact on any conflict of interest. Perhaps most importantly, the proposal will immediately discourage qualified individuals from serving on the board of their FCS association.

Looking through my farm's records, we bought seed from ten different companies or individuals last year. I am confident that about half of these businesses or individuals are not customers of Farm Credit of Western Kansas, but I am unsure if the remaining transactions would require a pre-transaction disclosure as proposed in the new rule. Also, the farm recently sold several pieces of farm machinery using an online auction. The way this particular auction website works, we do not know who the bidders are until the bidding is over. This seems to make a pre-transaction disclosure impossible. Like several people I have heard from, I would strongly reconsider my role as a director if I knew that holding the position would require excessive amounts of paperwork and correspondence related to what I consider normal business transactions.

I urge the FCA to revise the proposed rule substantially prior to issuing a final rule. I would also like to offer my support for the comments submitted by Farm Credit of Western Kansas, CoBank, and the Farm Credit Council. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Chad Hendricks
Director
